

Our Hearts Center Co-Founder

David Christopher Lewis

Author, teacher, mystic and musical composer, David has been a student of the ascended masters and the world's major religions for four decades. He began receiving telepathic communications from the ascended masters in 2004 and co-founded The Hearts Center Community in obedience to their request in 2005.

The Hearts Center is a non-profit spiritual activity dedicated to sharing current teachings received from the ascended masters and helping people everywhere awaken to and nurture their own divine potential. The community has grown into a worldwide movement with local centers in the United States, Canada, South Africa, Sweden, Spain, Argentina, and Chile.

David is the founder of Meru University, which offers a wide spectrum of live online and on-demand courses in an interactive environment. Each course includes direct communications from the ascended masters and inspired discourses by David. He has also founded Meru Press, the publishing arm of Meru University.

David conducts prayer services during free Internet broadcasts on The Hearts Center's website. He speaks at Hearts Center conferences and workshops held around the world, and leads international pilgrimages. His most recent book, Advanced Studies of the Human Aura, is his first mass-market publication. He has also published the pocketbook, Now, Zen and Always, a feast of wisdom quips, and Mother Mary's Missions, a compilation of Mary's HeartStreams, delivered during a pilgrimage to the Spanish Missions in 2005. Among David's other published works are a collection of more than 150 devotional prayers and mantras and a chapter on heartstreaming, in the anthology, Healing the Heart of the World, published in 2007.

David is married and lives in Livingston, Montana.
