

127. Mother of Mercy

Mother of Mercy, I call forth your presence.
O sprinkle life's nectar with your willow branch.
Pour forth your stream of compassion and wisdom
To bathe me in waters that heal my own soul.

Blessing hands of purity,
Off'ring me your sanctity.

Chorus:

Blessed Kuan Yin, you care for all beings.
I choose you, I call you, I trust you, please hear me.
You took the vow of a bodhisattva
And promised to answer all cries and all pleas.
You are my Mother; and I will now follow
Your footprints of vision, forgiveness, compassion,
Transcendence, and inner peace.

Mother of kindness, I bow 'fore your lotus.
Teach me forgiveness in words and in deeds.
Show me the nexus between earth and heaven
That opens my heart with compassionate beats.

Loving words of empathy
Saving souls in unity.

Chorus

Avalokita, now enter my being.
Hold me. ... I feel you. ... Thank ...you!
