Beloved Heartfriends,

Spring has sprung in the Northern Hemisphere although in Montana this means that late snows still blow and planting season has not fully arrived. With the additional sunlight much is perking up outdoors, and I am looking forward to more time spent in nature and within our expanding permaculture garden and “space of love.”

We had an interesting journey to our event in Nashville, Tennessee—America’s “Music City.” Concurrent with our arrival a massive storm system passed through numerous southern states, dumping over a foot of rain throughout the area and wreaking havoc with the already burgeoning waterways, causing flooding and a resulting loss of life. In addition, the challenge of the broken underwater BP oil rig in the Gulf of Mexico left a massive scar upon Mother Nature’s sacred ecosphere, challenging us to consider ways and means of changing the way we develop, deliver and use energy in our daily lives. And the recent earthquakes in Haiti, Chile and China and the volcanic eruptions in Iceland highlight the sovereign power of nature to affect our lives, locally and globally.

These major world events give us pause to consider the delicate fabric of life on earth and what we can do to continue to invoke intercession and mercy on behalf of the precious elementals and nature spirits, even as we implement new strategies and technologies to soften our step and abide peacefully upon our planetary home. What is sure is that “Mother knows best” and that she is imploring humanity to awaken in order to forestall the possibility of greater challenges ahead.

It is truly a time for us to be in tune with our Solar Source (God Presence) and to continue mastering our lower nature, our emotions and our conception of life all around us. It is time to embrace these planetary changes with equanimity and peace rather than with reactive shock and horror. Our own state of inner harmony and divine equilibrium is key to creating the resonant field of spiritual coherence that will guide us through these difficult times to meet our destiny with great beingness and joy.

Yes, God knows what is best for each of us, and cycles are outplaying within our lives so that we may realize our highest potential. At times this realization occurs through the major challenges that we experience and overcome through forgiveness, love and grace. At times it occurs by simply being present and allowing the winds of change to blow and to pass through us with their transformative energies and opportunities for reawakening and growth.

I am grateful that you have chosen to support our endeavors to bring the teachings of the ascended masters to a greater world audience of lightworkers. You have done this by listening and studying their messages and by participating in our events, courses and daily broadcasts. Each conscious effort to bring greater loving awareness to the planet and to all sentient beings is felt by our Earth Mother and our Heavenly Father. And this noble work is even now creating your legacy of light both in the ethers as well as tangibly upon earth, recreating a garden paradise of light right here in our own domain.

There are many projects that we as The Hearts Center Community worldwide are committed to manifesting. We have been commissioned to form an international council of representatives of the various nations from which our heartfriends hail. There are at least a dozen potential books on the A-list of Alpha to be written, compiled, edited and printed from the over 1300 HeartStreams that have been released over the last five and a half years. There are pilgrimages to South America, Africa, Great Britain, Russia and China to pray for, plan and perfect in order to bring the light and love of our beloved masters to many more and to help hold the balance for coming earth changes.

To date we have offered over 33 Meru University courses of inestimable value to devotees on their spiritual journey. Even as we use the newer Elluminate webinar technology, we envision editing, codifying and packaging many of our past Meru courses so that a wider audience may experience them and benefit from their wisdom and truth. Much of my own time is spent communing with the masters in order to bring forth these teachings and then, in collaboration with our editors, graphic artists and university staff, to prepare these releases for your study and assimilation.

As some have envisioned, every conference, event, pilgrimage and Meru University course could become a print book, an e-book, a DVD and/or a downloadable audio, video or text file for future generations to study and digest. What we require is an abundance of dedicated volunteers and employees as well as the financial abundance to bring about this vision. I am praying for it, holding the intention for it, seeing it and realizing it daily! And I hope and pray that you are inspired to do all you can to help us make it so!

May the graces and blessings of the Divine One nurture your soul and spirit always as you rise to continuously commune with and dwell in the light of the Eternal.

Yours in Buddhist love-wisdom,
David Christopher Lewis
